HINCHINBROKE THEATRE.
At Hinchinbroke, the seat of the Earl of Sandwich, the Theatre, which is dignified with the appellation of "The Prince of Wales," opened on Monday night with the LIAR, and the DEVIL TO PAY—preceded by a very elegant Prologue, written by Major Arabin, and spoken by that gentleman with great sensibility and animation. Amongst the Nobility and Gentry were, the Earl of Exeter, Lord Shultham, Admiral Sir Richard Bickerton, General Clark, Major Rufel, Major Pauler, and many other of the principal gentlemen of the neighbourhood, with a brilliant assemblage of ladies, who all very much applauded the performance, which went off in a very masterly style.

On Wednesday night, the AGREEABLE SURPRISE, and the ROMP, and on Friday the LIAR again, with a new Prologue. There will be but two performances this week, when the Theatre will close until the Christmas recess.
The politeness and attention of Lord Sandwich to his visitors is spoken of in the highest terms of commendation.
The following is the Prologue alluded to above:
PROLOGUE
To the LIAR.

At the THEATRE, at HINCHINBROKE.
Enter Major ARABIN, speaking to the MANAGER.
NAY, my good Lord, I swear 'tis past a joke,
You tell me that a Prologue must be spoke;
I, for the Author, know not what to say,
A LIAR is the hero of the play;
And boldest falsehoods must forgiveness meet.
(Pointing to the Audience.)
Ere they can relish this theatrical treat;
And how can Vice in pleasing tints be shewn,
While Truth and radiant Virtue grace the Throne?
Suppose, before the task I undertake,
A trial of my talent I should make;
I like the thought, I trust will give it vent,
And see if lying here can give content;
I have it—begin, I'll cross the seas,
Fresh news from Amsterdam will surely please.
(Exit Manager.)

MAJOR ARABIN bows, and addresses the Audience.
When late the Prussians warlike force was near,
The Patriot Dutchman shew'd no object fear;
True to their boastings, they disdain'd to yield,
And drove great Bruynwick trembling from the field.
With greater strides beheld I now advance,
And swear that England dreads the arms of France;
That awed by threats from Gallia's hostile shore,
Britannia's silent lion fears to roar.

(Pointing to the Prince of Wales's arms.)
Perhaps those showy plumes your thoughts engage,
Which wave on high and decorate our stage;
Their owner proud, imperious,—do not start—
Knows not the feelings of a tender heart;
Vain of his birth, he never will condescend
To treat the man beneath him as a friend;
Formal in manners, graceful in his mien,
A poorer figure sure was never seen;
To social joys an enemy profane;
In pomp and Royal state alone he's pleased;
Spurn'd by the sex; nay, now I'll make you stare,
He never could captivate one willing fair;
His actions every hour combine to prove
He knows not honour, friendship, mirth, or love.
But let me stop—my talk, I think, is done,
In falsehood my career is fairly run;
If you expect still greater Lies than these,
I as a LIAR cannot hope to please;
Then give the word, your orders I'll convey,
And force the Manager to change the play.

THE King has been pleased to appoint William Sinclair, Esq; to be Commissary of the Commissariat of Caithness, in the room of William Sutherland, Esq; deceased.

London, Nov. 9.

Yesterday, John Burnell, Esq; the Lord Mayor Elect for the year ensuing, was sworn at Guildhall, when the Chair, and other ensigns of Mayoralty, were surrendered to him in the accustomed manner.

This day, the Lord Mayor, several of the Aldermen, and Sheriffs, in their scarlet gowns, went in their coaches to the water side; the sword and mace being carried before them, and the city officers attending; and from thence proceeded in the city barge, attended by the several Companies in their respective barges, adorned with streamers and pendants, to Westminster; and having walked round the Hall, and solemnly saluted all the Courts, they went to the Exchequer bar, and the Lord Mayor did there take the oaths appointed; and, having recorded warrants of attorney in the proper Courts, returned by water to Black Friars, and from thence in coaches, with the usual solemnity, to Guildhall, where a magnificent entertainment was provided; at which were present some of the Foreign Ministers, the Great Officers of State, divers of the Nobility, Lords of his Majesty's Most Honourable Privy Council, the Judges; and many other persons of quality and distinction.

Dresden, Oct. 19.

Yesterday, his Serene Highness Prince Anthony, brother to the Elector of Saxony, was married to her Royal Highness the Archduchess Maria Theresia, daughter to the Great Duke of Tuscany. The ceremony was performed in the Elector's private chapel.

FROM THE LONDON PAPERS, Nov. 12.

Patras, Sept. 20. As soon as the news arrived here of war being declared against Russia, the populace pillaged the house of the Russian Consul, and would certainly have destroyed him, if the Bacha had not run to his assistance with a body of Janissaries, who appeased the tumult; notwithstanding which the Bacha had much trouble to save the lives of the Russian Consul and his family, and put them in a place of safety. He afterwards published a firman from the Porte, by which it was strongly forbidden to insult the Russian merchants, and in case of disobedience the delinquents to be punished with the utmost rigour. This produced the desired effect, for the mutineers retired, and those taken were put in prison.

Petersburg, Oct. 8. The courier who brought the news here that our ships had sunk three Turkish frigates near Oczakow, received from her Majesty a present of a gold watch. They talk of fitting out immediately at Cronstadt a fleet of 30 ships of the line. In the declaration published by our Court against the Porte, they promised to issue a manifesto, or more particular detail, which has appeared accordingly. It begins with the affairs from the year 1768, when the Porte declared war against Russia in an unjust and violent manner. This manifesto goes on to set forth, that Russia, after being deprived of Moldavia, Wallachia, Bessarabia, Bulgaria, and many islands in the Archipelago, yielded back all those conquests by the treaty of 1773, and only kept the fort of Kinburn and its district, the territory between the Dniester and the Nieper, and the fortresses of Kertch and Jenikale. All this is followed by a short enumeration of the principal events since the peace of Kainardgi until the return of Mr Bulgakow from Cherson to Constantinople.

Cassel, Oct. 18. After many conferences between General Fawcett and our Minister, a treaty of alliance and subsidy is signed and agreed on between the King of Great Britain and the Landgrave; in consequence of which we shall furnish the English with twelve thousand men, who are ordered to prepare to march on the first notice. General Fawcett has likewise taken the troops of Waldeck into English pay. He set off from this place for Hanover on the 6th instant.

Pienna, Oct. 26. His Majesty, the Emperor, who has been absent for some days, has returned again to this residence; his Majesty has not been in Hungary as was reported; his journey to that place is fixed for the 31st of this month.

It is now certain, that the answer of the Ottoman Porte, to his Imperial Majesty's declaration of the 3d of September, was haughty and unsatisfactory; they insist that he ought to withdraw his troops from the frontiers, which is not compatible with his dignity, with the safety of his dominions and subjects, nor with the alliance which subsists between him and the Empress. This was notified to the Porte by an extra courier, who left this place on the 22d, and with this express declaration, that his Majesty expected, without fear, the declaration of war against him by the Turks, and was prepared, at all points, for the event.

L O N D O N, — Nov. 12. 1787
Friday, the Earl of Caillis, lately arrived from Scotland, was at the levee, and had afterwards an audience of his Majesty.

Friday, a writ was ordered to pass the Great Seal appointing a Congé D'Elire to the Dean and Chapter of London, to chuse a Bishop in the room of the late Dr Robert Lowth, and recommending Dr Beilby Porteus, Bishop of Chester, to be chosen.

Same day, the Bishop of Chester attended the levee at St James's, and kissed his Majesty's hand on his appointment to the See of London. Who will succeed his Lordship at Chester is not yet determined.

The triumph of the Minister, on the late trying occasion, is complete.—This statement of circumstances, which we have authority to give, will show it:—

In an early period of the Dutch disturbances, the French, rather ostentatiously, avowed their disposition to aid the Patriotic party. Some interference, though with extreme caution, was used by our Administration. The language in return was very high, and rather, as it should seem, with an apparent purpose of irritation. Mr Pitt himself negotiated with the French Ambassador; and though he received such incivilities as nothing but a superior mind could disdain, he still drew off unembarrassed, and left the affair with no new tendency to what was hostile.

The hostile tendency, however, on the part of the French, becoming more and more obtrusive, and the fouds of preparation spreading from Brest to Toulon, our honourable reservation in favour of peace was deemed scarcely any longer practicable.

Such was the unanimous opinion of the Cabinet: as such, it was communicated, with proper frankness, to the leaders of Opposition. This, though a very becoming mode of doing business, and at once honourable and expedient, is not new; the same sort of explicit communication, in every material decision of State, having been familiarly interchanged by Lord North and other Ministers.

Opposition met, as the Ministry had done before them, and with councils that had the same import; that, if hostilities could not be thus discreetly prevented, they must be encountered; and that, as the French made no secret of arming, the English should arm likewise.

As far, therefore, as Administration had gone, the other party went along with them.

How much further the Minister has advanced in popular confidence and regard, from the unexpected felicity of the issue, they can tell, who know the preference of prevention to remedy.

It is surprising how much the absurd story of the Spaniards having attacked Gibraltar gained credit a few days ago. All we can gather from this is, that there is nothing so improbable as not to be believed by some. While this credulity prevails, there will always be plenty of forgeries and fabrications, propagated by artful jobbers, to promote their private purposes.

Saturday afternoon, between two and three o'clock, their Royal Highnesses the Prince of Wales and the Duke of York, passed through the City, on their road to Mitley, in Essex, the seat of Mr Ribby, in the neighbourhood of which they intend to spend some time, in the diversions of courting and shooting.

Mr Eden left Paris on Wednesday last, and is now on his route to Madrid as Ambassador Plenipotentiary from Great Britain to the Court of Spain.

Colonel Nesbit Balfour, and John Spranger, Esqrs. are constituted Commissioners for enquiring into the respective losses of all such persons who have suffered in their rights and properties in consequence of the cession of the province of East Florida to the King of Spain; they are now about winding up that intricate and interesting business.

Lord Mansfield is perhaps the most astonishing instance of longevity that can be produced. There are many others who have lived longer, and who are now older than he, and preserved such faculties as they have got; but where shall we find one like him, whose mind preserves its greatness, its vigour, and its unbounded knowledge in such perfection? There is no such character now living.

In the above instance there is something of chance, a something which cannot be reduced to the fixed and settled rules of medical temperance.—His Lordship never was a water drinker.—And of the old water-drinkers of the age, it will be hard to find one of his power.

Friday morning, died, at his house in New London-street, George Cuming, Esq; one of the Directors of the East India Company.

GUILDHALL.

At six o'clock, Friday evening, the dinner was served up in Guildhall to three tables.

1. The Lord Mayor's table on the Hurlings. At this table sat the Lord and Lady Mayors, the Aldermen, the City Officers, the Officers of State, and other strangers, who were invited.

2. The Sheriff's table, at the other end of the Hall, opposite the Lord Mayor's; at which sat their friends.

3. The center table, which was the largest, and contained several tables, occupying the whole of the remaining space of the Hall. At which sat the Common Council, their Ladies, and an incredible number of other persons, who had found favour to gain admittance.

And such was the amazing number of persons who came with tickets and orders from the Aldermen, &c. that the Hall, large as it is, could not contain them.

The Court of King's Bench was filled with tables; and those were not sufficient. Many persons could find no accommodations; and even seven of the Aldermen were obliged to dine by themselves in a room above stairs.

On the right hand of the Lord Mayor sat

The Lord Chancellor,
The Earl of Salisbury,
The Marquis of Carmarthen,
The Marquis of Titchfield,
Right Hon. Mr Pitt,
Right Hon. Mr Fox,
George Byng, Esq;
Lord Loughborough,
The French Ambassador,
The Portuguese Ambassador,
The Judges Ashurst, Heath, Hotham, and Thompson,
The Attorney and Solicitor General,
Several foreigners, &c. &c. &c.

The Ladies sat on the left hand.

Invitations had been sent to Norfolk and Portland houses, but neither of the noble Dukes was in town.

The dinner was well served, and the wines were good. Charet, Champagne, Burgundy, Madeira, &c.

After dinner, the Lady Mayors, and the Ladies, retired to the new Council Chamber, where they were served with coffee and tea.

The Lord Mayor, Aldermen, and Officers of State retired to the old Council Chamber, where the bottle was pushed about pretty briskly.

After the usual toasts, the Lord Mayor gave the following in succession:

The Duke of Portland,
The Duke of Devonshire,
Earl Fitzwilliam,
Lord North,
Mr Burke, &c.

About nine o'clock the Lord Chancellor went away.

He was followed by the Judges, and the Attorney and Solicitor General.

Lord Salisbury, Lord Carmarthen, and Mr Pitt, went to the Ladies.

The Ball was opened in the new Council Chamber, by

A Venetian Nobleman, and Miss Tibbs, sister to the Lady Mayors.

The next minuet was danced by Mr Estlin, (son to Sir James) and Miss Evans.

The third minuet, by the Hon. Mr Townsend, (son to Lord Sydney) and Miss ———.

Country dances were danced on the Hurlings, in the Hall, and in the Court of King's Bench. They continued for some time.

A day of better order could not be. Nor is it remembered that a more numerous company has been assembled at Guildhall.

It may be fairly conjectured that at least five hundred persons dined.

All the Aldermen were present, except Wilkes and Harley.

The Lord Mayor and Sheriffs have ordered all the provision, remaining from the feast of Friday, at Guildhall, to be sent to the several goals of the city, and distributed among the distressed prisoners in the most equal manner.—What! all! Yes, except some tit-bits which a certain description of persons find most fitting for their own palates, and therefore order home.

Extract of a letter from Portsmouth, Nov. 9.

"We have had a gale of wind from the N. W. these four-and-twenty hours, which prevents all communication whatever with Spithead. I feel, however, both Sir Francis Drake's and Sir Edmund Aylmer's flags still flying there, and it is the general opinion, they will remain hoisted until the meeting of Parliament. No orders yet have been received for the ships of this port to come into harbour. The Bombay Castle, Capt. R. Panfili, and Carnatic, the Hon. Capt. Bertie, have left Spithead, and anchored at St Helens, in their way to Plymouth; the rest of the men of war destined for that port, will soon do the same, when the first wind from the eastward will carry them fairly away. The fire-ship of 74 guns, has failed for the eastward.

"The following ships of 74 guns each, are expected to be paid off, being in bad condition, viz. Pegase, Triumph, and Ganges, as well as the Ardent of 64; and some go so far as to assert, that it is the intention of the Lords of the Admiralty to pay off all the class of sixty-fours, and continue none as guardships but 74 guns. It is strongly reported also, that from the difficulty recently experienced in procuring seamen, they will wisely keep a number of those already in pay, by adding at least one hundred men more to the complement of each guardship, so that on any future emergency, we shall have more good hands than we can depend upon to put on board our men of war, and not be the second time put to our shifts for the want of experienced seamen."

Extract of a letter from Ramsgate, Nov. 11.

"Yesterday was brought in the Santa Teresa, De Padone, from Bilbao to London, with the loss of several sails, and other damage; also came in the Viergeslusters, Berding, from Memel to Bourdeaux, with loss of anchors and cables, several sails, and three feet water in her hold.

"The ships in the Downs got under way this morning, wind S. S. E. but most of them returned."

EDINBURGH. STATE PAPER.

Extract from the Register of their High Mightinesses the States General of the United Provinces, Oct. 23. 1787.

"There was read to the Assembly a Memorial of M. H. J. van Oldenbarneveld, named Witte Tullings, Advocate-Fiscal of Brabant and the country of Outre Meuse, That being some days at Bois-le-Duc, in order to attend the better to the execution of the resolution of their High Mightinesses of the 3d of this month, as well on account of the said town itself, as of the villages and Seignories of the district of Bois-le-Duc, where there were some societies or associations for exercise, and societies self-named Patriotic. That the most heavy complaints had been made to him, as Advocate-Fiscal, respecting the licentious and scandalous manner in which many ministers had for some time prayed for the person of his Serene Highness the Prince, Hereditary Stadtholder, Captain and Admiral General of the United Provinces. and who had permitted these extravagancies in the town and district, notwithstanding the express publication of their High Mightinesses of the 15th August last; while other Ministers, under the pretext of concluding their discourses with the most perfect prayer, neglected to pray for the respectable Sovereign and other eminent Colleges of this State, and for the illustrious persons of their Serene Highnesses, and their august family.

"That a conduct so indecent and scandalous on the part of these ministers, gave, on the one hand, a bad example to many members of their assemblies, and made fatal impressions on the minds of their hearers; so that he wished a period was put to their unbounded licentiousness. That he, as Advocate-Fiscal of Brabant, laid this matter before their High Mightinesses, that they may be pleased to prescribe with respect to the manner of proceeding.

"Whereupon having deliberated, it was found expedient and resolved, to order, by this present, the several ministers of the town and district of Bois-le-Duc, the districts of all Dutch Brabant, and the country of Outre Meuse, as also all the towns, villages, seignories, and places of the Generality, to regulate themselves in their prayers for the Illustrious Sovereign, and other eminent Colleges of the States, as well as for the illustrious persons of their Royal Highnesses, and their most serene family, according to the form of prayer appointed by their High Mightinesses, and which had been prescribed to them; and not to attempt, under any pretext whatever, to pass over this intercession, at the end of the sermon, under the pain of incurring the highest displeasure of their High Mightinesses in case of disobedience, and besides being proceeded against according to the circumstances of the case, in consequence of the edit of their High Mightinesses of the 13th August, 1787. Commanding them to publish this in all their churches, and to read this resolution of their High Mightinesses from the pulpit, the first day they preach in the said town and district of Bois-le-Duc, as also in the other towns, villages, seignories, and places of Dutch Brabant, the country of Outre Meuse, and the Generality.

"For which purpose, this resolution shall be printed, and a sufficient number of copies sent to the several officers and magistrates of the district of the Generality, &c.

D. J. van HEERSEN,
H. FAGEL."

Extract of a letter from the Hague, Nov. 7.

"Mr Peter van Bleiswyk, Counsellor-Penitentiary of Holland, the day before yesterday demanded of their Noble and High Mightinesses the States of Holland and West Friesland his dismissal from the posts of Grand-Penitentiary and Keeper of the Seal of that Province.

"The Deputies of the town of Hoorn have proposed to the States of Holland, that a certain adequate sum should be offered to the Duke of Brunswick, as Commander in Chief of the Prussian troops, in order to be bestowed and divided among the soldiers and officers as he shall think proper, by way of recompense for the hardships, inconveniences, and expenses they have been put to since they came into that province, which have far exceeded what pay. It is supposed this proposal will be agreed to.

"The famous Count de Salm Grumbach, otherwise known by the name of the Rhingrave of Salm, and for whom a pitiful apology has appeared in some German papers, respecting his conduct during the troubles which agitated these provinces, appears to have escaped for a time the storm that hangs over his head, as well as those who falsely assume the name of Patriots, and their whole cabal. It is supposed, that being disguised, he saved himself by means of a pink, (purchased before hand) probably on the coast of Hanburgh; that from thence he went to Bar, after having passed through Hildersheim and Grumbach, near an estate belonging to him, and which he has called La Fosse Hollandaise. When he embarked at Carwyck, he gave his clothes, and all his marks of distinction, to a huff, who resembled him very much, and who showed himself every where, in order to conceal his flight for some time, and prevent a pursuit.

"Their Noble and High Mightinesses have unanimously resolved to authorize his Serene Highness the Prince, Hereditary Stadtholder, to change the Regents in the towns of this province.

"In consequence of the election of his Serene Highness the Prince, Hereditary Stadtholder, their Noble and High Mightinesses have named Mr John Boreel de Maurignault, President of the High Council."

Died at Abbeville, on the 4th of this month, the Right Honourable the Earl of Dalhousie.

Miss Margaret Haliburton, daughter of the deceased Provost George Haliburton, died here on Thursday last.

Died at her house in Kilbarchan, on Wednesday the 7th current, Mrs Speirs, relict of the late Alexander Speirs merchant, aged 84 years.

Mrs Mayne of Powis, died at Powis on Wednesday the 7th current.

Monday evening, died Mrs Maxwell, wife of Charles Maxwell, Esq, of Dulwich, in Surrey.
Mrs Hamilton, relict of the Rev. Mr Thomas Hamilton, minister of Holywood, died at Glasgow the 31st ult. in the 80th year of her age.
On Tuesday the 6th inst., died at Peterhead, Mrs Katharine Cumming, spouse to Mr James Arbutnot, merchant in that place, and daughter to the late George Cumming of Pitulry.
Last month, died at Dresten, Mr Kenneth Ferguson, secretary to Morton Eden, Esq; the British ambassador at that Court, a young gentleman of great genius and learning, and translator of the beautiful epic poem of Joseph. He was a native of Lanarkshire, and brother of the Rev. Mr Ferguson, minister of Pettynain in that county. The amiable manners and literary accomplishments of Mr Ferguson, particularly his skill in the foreign languages, recommended him, almost without friends, to the office which he held, and in which he was highly respected. His death has occasioned the deepest affliction to his relations.
Died at Port Glasgow, on the 29th of October, Lieutenant-Colonel Powlett, late of the 45th regiment.
On Sunday last, died at Berwick, in his way to London, from Scotland, Mr John Brander.
Mr David Pagan, merchant in Virginia, died at New York in September last, after a lingering illness.
Mr James Webster, Town-Clerk of Forfar, died there on the 31st of October last.
Yesterday, the Lord Provost, Magistrates, and Council, appointed Mr George Home resident Bailie of Edinburgh, and Mr Peter Hardie resident Bailie of Weller Portburgh.
Tuesday last, the Bailie of the meal market, upon a visitation, found several parcels of meal of an inferior quality from what they were given out to be, when exposed to sale. Four bolls of this kind of meal were seized and sent to the Charity Workhouse. Other vendors of mixed meal, not quite so culpable as the proprietor of the four bolls, were fined.
Tuesday last, the Provincial Synod of Iothian and Tweedale met here, when, after an excellent sermon by the Rev Mr John Kemp, one of the ministers of this city, their late Moderator, they made choice of the Rev Mr William Martin, likewise one of the ministers of this city, to be Moderator for the half year ensuing. There was no business whatever, of a public nature, came before the Synod.
Monday last, we had a dreadful storm of wind and rain, the bad effects of which, we are afraid, will be severely felt, as the wind did not continue long in one direction. The following melancholy accounts have already come to our hands:
On Monday night last, the Friends Goodwill, of Leith, Captain John Crawford, from Dantzic for Leith, laden with oak plank and masts, was wrecked at Seougal, three miles to the southward of North Berwick. The master and all the crew, consisting of nine men, were drowned. The ship is broken up, but most of the cargo will be saved.
The Industry, Captain Robertson, from Leith for Campvere, is wrecked near Yarmouth. The crew are saved.
An attempt was made on Sunday forenoon to break into a house in the Horse Wynd, by means of false keys; but somebody happening to be within, they ran off. It is obvious, now that the season for depredation has commenced, how careful people ought to be in securing their houses properly, when the family are from home; for the method commonly practised by these pilferers is, to know first, by rapping at the door, and lifting the latch gently, whether any person is within, which, should it be the case, they feign an enquiry for somebody's place of residence; but if otherwise, and circumstances appear favourable, different keys are applied till their purpose is completed, and the owner pillaged, perhaps, of his most valuable effects.
Monday night, as a man and his wife were crossing a small wooden bridge over Roslin water, by some accident the woman fell in, and the water being greatly swelled by the late heavy rains, she was unfortunately drowned, and carried down the stream.
Tuesday last, the dead body of a young woman was cast ashore at the harbour of Fifehead. There were no cloths upon the body except stockings, nor was she known to any person in that place.
Last night, a porter was drowned in a draw-well in the Pleasance. It seems the well had been repaired; and the people employed in that business having neglected to put up the necessary defence against accidents, the man unfortunately fell in.
A singular instance of providential escape happened last Saturday at Musselburgh:—A child of nine years of age fell into the mill-lead, and was carried under the wheel, without receiving any injury.
Tuesday evening, a collier, when sliding down a rope in a coal-pit near Westmuir, let go his hold, by which he fell to the bottom, and was killed on the spot.
On Tuesday evening, an elderly man, in coming hastily down a stair in the Saltmarket, Glasgow, fell and fractured his skull. He lingered till Saturday morning, when he expired.
Yesterday evening, after a countryman and a soldier had come out of a public house in one of the winds in the high-street, Glasgow, where they had been drinking, the latter knocked down the former, and robbed him of a few shillings.
The Leith Packer, Thomson, for London, is in Margaret's Hope, all well.
The Torbay, Boyd, is arrived at Virginia, and the Tivoli, McLeith, at Grenada, both from Clyde.
The Diana, Kerr, from Virginia, with slaves, is arrived in Clyde.
A few days ago a French ship, which had been hovering about the mouth of the Humber a whole day, was boarded by the Swift cutter, and carried into Hull. She was laden with brandy, coffee, tea, and tobacco; and some of the crew, who were Irish, confessed the was in the smuggling trade, and was waiting for boats to land her cargo.
On Wednesday the 7th current, Mr David Anderson was ordained minister of Kirkcaldy, in the presbytery of Peebles.
Tuesday last, the University of Glasgow conferred the degree of Doctor of Medicine on Mr James Wall, surgeon in the Royal Navy.
Prices of meal in Glasgow market.—Best oatmeal 14 d. second sort 12 d. third sort 11 d.—Peafemeal 11 d. Bearmeal 10 d. per peck.
Monday last the ports in Lanarkshire were shut against the importation of wheat and barley.—They are open for oats, oatmeal, pease and beans.
A very curious case has lately taken place, with respect to a cargo of foreign wheat brought to Grangemouth, in expectation of being allowed to pass through the Canal. Many difficulties occurred, but, at length, by the application of Sir William Forbes, Chairman of the Chamber of Commerce at Edinburgh, to a very respectable Commoner, high in power, liberty was given. In the interim, there was a great probability of the Lanarkshire ports being shut, (see paragraph above) which would have effectually impeded all the means made use of. We are glad, however, to learn, that all the lighters containing this cargo arrived within the bounds of the county in time, and have been admitted to enter.
The Magistrates of the burgh of Innerkeithing, for the preservation of good order recommended in our Sovereign's Proclamation, have appointed a teacher to meet with the children of the place every Sabbath, to examine them on the principles of religion; and have enjoined their officers to go about the town and harbour to apprehend fugh, whether young or old, as are found straggling, and cannot assign sufficient reasons for their being without doors on Sabbath.—In consequence of these regulations the profanation of the day of rest, so common in many burghs, is in a great degree prevented in Innerkeithing.
Extract of a letter from Aberdeen, Nov. 13.
For some time past it has been observed, that notwithstanding his Majesty's late proclamation, the streets of this city continued to be infested every Sunday, even in time of divine worship, by numerous sets of idle and disorderly boys. The Magistrates therefore caused their constables to patrol the streets on Sunday last, both forenoon and afternoon, by whom a great number of these disorderly boys were confined in the guardhouse till evening, when they were dismissed, on their parents becoming bound for their better behaviour in time coming, with which the Magistrates were satisfied at present; but we are assured they are determined in time coming, to punish all such immorality with more severity. It is really a disgrace to parents, to suffer their children to go on in such abandoned courses, from which the almost inevitable consequence is, their children becoming thieves and blackguards.—And it is the more inexcusable, as even the poorest person has now an opportunity of habituating their children in a proper course, by causing them attend the Sunday schools established in this place.
"An extraordinary instance of vegetation.—Mr M-Farlane, schoolmaster in Kinord, in the parish of Tullich, planted a single grain of wheat last autumn in his yard, from which sprang 37 stems, which produced this autumn 1491 grains, sufficiently full and ripened.
"Last night a sloop loaded with coals was put ashore at the back of the old pier-head."
Extract of a letter from Glasgow, Nov. 11.
"The new projected plan of Sunday's Schools goes on here with great spirit and success, and the most respectable inhabitants seem emulous in the business. This day very suitable exhortations were given from the respective churches on the subject.—The Broomielaw has not been so full of shipping for a long time."
Extract of a letter from Perth, Nov. 9.
"The Perth Hunt met here on Monday last. The company is very genteel and numerous, especially the ladies. The weather has been in general very unfavourable, though the gentlemen have been out every day but Thursday. We have had three balls."
Extract of a letter from Manchester, Nov. 10.
"The rain has, for many days and nights past, been incessant in this neighbourhood, which has caused the rivers to be so much swelled above their usual height, as to lay a great part of the country under water, and do much damage. The various printing and dyeing works which are situated on the banks of the old river, have sustained great loss.—Goods, utensils, and part of some buildings have been swept away by the resistless force of the furious element; and, at one factory near the town, it was with difficulty they could save their books, and a considerable sum in cash and bills. On Tuesday afternoon, about four o'clock, the whole battlement on one side, and a considerable portion of the ground way of the new stone bridge so lately built over the river to the Salford side, was broke down, and an old man of the name of Booth, a huntsman, who was passing, and had incautiously stopped to look over the battlements that fell (which had previously given way) went along with the ruins, and was drowned, without the possibility of rendering him any assistance. The conformation which it occasioned at the time of falling was very great, and the crowds of people who flocked to see the ruin, greatly heightened the danger, by their pressing too eagerly forward to view the sight. We are happy to say, however, that no further accident has happened, though more of the bridge has fallen in, and people are still passing over it. The repairing of it will be very precarious, if the present weather should continue; and without repairing the bridge will soon receive much greater injury."
"We are informed of one curious circumstance from the above inundation. At Broughton, where the land is low, a number of hares naturally fled from the water, and were surrounded at last in a body, on a piece of ground that was dry."

A singular instance of providential escape happened last Saturday at Musselburgh:—A child of nine years of age fell into the mill-lead, and was carried under the wheel, without receiving any injury.

Tuesday evening, a collier, when sliding down a rope in a coal-pit near Westmuir, let go his hold, by which he fell to the bottom, and was killed on the spot.

On Tuesday evening, an elderly man, in coming hastily down a stair in the Saltmarket, Glasgow, fell and fractured his skull. He lingered till Saturday morning, when he expired.

Yesterday evening, after a countryman and a soldier had come out of a public house in one of the winds in the high-street, Glasgow, where they had been drinking, the latter knocked down the former, and robbed him of a few shillings.

A few days ago a French ship, which had been hovering about the mouth of the Humber a whole day, was boarded by the Swift cutter, and carried into Hull. She was laden with brandy, coffee, tea, and tobacco; and some of the crew, who were Irish, confessed the was in the smuggling trade, and was waiting for boats to land her cargo.

The Epilogue derived its chief merit from Miss Farren's happy delivery; it adhered to modern marriages, and concluded in advising to let the heart rather than the eyes, be the guide—

And if your eyes deceive you, tie the heart.

The house was crowded in all parts; and the most general approbation was bestowed on the piece.

BY the Hon. Lieut-General ALEXANDER MACKAY, COMMANDER of his MAJESTY'S FORCES, &c. in North Britain.

The Governors of Chelsea Hospital have signified to Lieutenant-General Mackay, that such of the Out Pensioners resident in North Britain, as may think fit to enter voluntarily into the regiments raising by Sir Archibald Campbell and Colonel Abercromby, are to be permitted to do so, either for temporary service in raising and training those corps, or to go abroad with the said regiments, in which latter case, such of them as shall be approved of by Colonel Abercromby or Lieut. Colonel Forbes, shall not only be paid the usual regimental bounty, but shall, previous to their embarkation, receive a sum equal to the ending half year's pension.

By the General's command.

Sale of the Lands of Strathairly in Fife,

ADJOURNED.

To be SOLD by public roup, within the Old Exchange Coffeehouse, (Ramfay's), Edinburgh, on Wednesday the 21st November 1787, betwixt the hours of five and six afternoon.

THE Lands and Estate of STRATHAIRLY, lying within the parish of Largo, and county of Fife, consisting of about 256 acres, conform to survey. The gross rent presently paid by the tenants is 230 l. 8 s. 7 d. Sterling, including a considerable quantity of victual converted by the tacks at the low rate of 8 s. 4 d. per boll.

The public burdens amount to 9 l. 11 s. 4 d. Sterling, which being deducted from the forefold gross rent, there remains of free rent 220 l. 17 s. 3 d. Sterling.

Upset Price 7000 l. Sterling.

This estate is delightfully situated, of a fourth exposure, along the sea coast, rich and fertile as any lands in Fife; having also every article for improvement on itself, coal, sea-water for kelp or manure, shell, sand, &c. There is a mansion-house, offices, pigeon-house, and garden, which, with some acres of ground, are at present in the natural possession of the proprietor, and may be entered into immediately.

These lands hold of a subject superior, for payment of a small feu-duty; and stand valued in the cess-books of the county at 850 l. 6 s. 8 d. Scots. They are extremely low rented, having been under long leases; but as some of these expire very soon, a considerable rise of rent may be reasonably expected, from the uncommon goodness of the soil, and many local advantages.

The progress of writs, and title-deeds of the estate, together with a plan, survey, and rental, may be seen in the hands of William Macdonald, writer to the signet, Prince's Street, Edinburgh; and such as incline a private bargain, previous to the day of roup, may apply to the proprietor at Edinburgh, or to Doctor Glasgow at Leven, who will give orders to show the lands.

To the Printer of the Caledonian Mercury.

SIR,

THE following circumstance may not be disagreeable to some of your readers, and of importance to the public:—A grocer here being very much troubled with rats in his shop, provided an ounce of the very strongest white arsenick that could be procured, in order to kill them by poison. Having mixed it with a little boiled beef at night, when going to shut his shop, he put it on the floor. The gentleman keeps three small terrier dogs, and on opening his shop in the morning, the dogs went and devoured the whole mixture, without his having attended to what he had done the night before; but the rats being rather crafty, did not think proper to partake of their prepared meal. On seeing the poor dogs run to some water standing at a side, the gentleman was immediately made sensible of his mistake; and got about a Scots pint of warm milk, and about an English pint of Florence oil, which was poured into the three dogs, who, before the gentleman got the milk and oil prepared, were almost gone; but in the course of an hour after receiving the above medicine, they were perfectly recovered, although they had ate a whole ounce of arsenick. As many are the alarming events of poison, particularly arsenick, which is almost always deemed incurable, I am hopeful the publication of this fact will be of use to the public.

I am yours, &c.

THEATRICAL INTELLIGENCE.

THE NEW PEERAGE:

OR, OUR EYES MAY DECEIVE US.

Drury-Lane.

This Comedy, written by MISS HARRIST LEE, sister to the ingenious authoress of the CHAPTER of ACCIDENTS and RECESS, was on Saturday evening brought forward for the first time.

The Characters are as follow:—

Vandererab, a Banker, Mr KING;
Charles, his son, Mr WAUGHAMPTON;
Sir John Lovelace, Mr SUETT;
Lord Melville, Mr BANNISTER;
Mackay, Mr PACKER;
Virtu, Mr LA-MASH;
Lady Charlotte Courtly, Miss FAREN;
Miss Harley, Mrs CROUCH;
Miss Vandercrab, Mrs HOPKINS;
Kitty, Mrs CUYLER.

Miss Lee's Comedy is of merit that places a chapter on her brow; it is unencumbered by sententious declamation, and unblemished by double entendre; some very pointed and acute reflections are scattered through the scenes; and if the wit is not powerful, a vein of pleasantry runs through the whole, that kept the house in a continued succession of gaiety.

The characters are not striking on the score of originality.—Vandererab is of a cynical cast, and has many relatives on the stage.—Sir John Lovelace, in some respects, approaches Sir Anthony Braggle, and where he is dissimilar, no very marking feature is given.—The other leading characters are those which may be traced in most genteel comedies.

In respect to the management, a very regular succession of business leads to the denouement, and the imagination no where feels the electric power attendant upon high-wrought scenery; yet it is still kept

A Remarkable Instance of the Efficacy of ADAMS'S SOLVENT, FOR THE STONE AND GRAVEL.

MRS Miller, No. 28, Margaret-street,
Cavendish-square, London, was taken ill of the gravel above ten years, which at length became the stone. She was then advised to soap, lime water, and the other usual lithontriptics of that time, which produced no good effect whatever, for she grew worse and worse, and was at last told that the only relief must be found in the knife. Dreadful as this alternative was, she consented to be cut, and J. Gunning, Esq; surgeon of St George's, performed the operation with such APPARENT success, that, after extracting one stone as large as a hen's egg, and another of the shape and size of a Windsor bean, she was able to walk about. Now, as the stones were unbroken, she was flattered with the hopes of a perfect release from the excruciating tortures of this disorder, and from the sufferings which she cannot with propriety describe in this public manner. These hopes, however, proved illusive; for her confluence was so disposed to form calculus concretions, that in a short time she was sensible of a new accumulation, and all her former sufferings returned with a hopeless prospect of further relief. About eighteen months after this, when the stone had got to a considerable size, she heard of the above remedy, which she took, with some intermissions, for fifteen months, during which time she grew calmer and easier, and evacuated large quantities of an earthy or clayish substance, as well as concave pieces of stone, black on one side. In one week she passed seven of these, making the whole quantity voided near a handful, by which happy event she was perfectly cured of the disease, and has remained so for several years before. Notwithstanding the Solvent had been given with equal success long before she submitted to the operation, yet she had never heard of it; and this circumstance alone has induced her to write, and the discoverer to consent (though a regular surgeon), to the publication of her case, in order to alleviate the miseries of those afflicted with this cruel disorder, in which cutting is often but a temporary relief.

The Solvent may be had of the proprietor, No. 21, Argyle-street, London, in bottles of Ten Shillings and Sixpence and One Guinea; and for a further account of the success of this medicine, see "Perry on the Stone, Seventh Edition."

The medicine is sold also by Mr A. MANNERS (who is now removed to No. 110, Nicolson's Street, Edinburgh, and continues to deal as formerly)—by J. Muir, Kilmarnock—and W. Leslie, Aberdeen.

Sale of the Estate of Redcastle, IN ONE OR TWO LOTS.

TO be SOLD by public roup, within the Old Exchange Coffeehouse, Edinburgh, upon Wednesday the 21st day of November 1787, at six o'clock afternoon,

The Lands and Barony of REDCASTLE, lying in the parishes of Kilmarnock and Kilmuir-Wester, and county of Roxburgh. These lands hold of the Crown, and are valued in the cess-books of the county at 1492 l. At a moderate conversion of the vidual, they yield yearly rent about 1200 l. Sterling; and being very extensive, and still in their natural state, they are capable of great improvement. Their situation is uncommonly agreeable. They lie along the navigable frith of Beaul, which bounds them on the south, for the space of about five miles. They are distant from the burgh of Inverness only about two miles. The soil is of an exceeding good quality, dry and healthy; and, owing to the south exposure, the crops are more early than in the most southerly parts of Scotland. The mansion-house is fit to accommodate a large family. The gardens are extensive, and yield fruits of all kinds in great plenty, early, and of the best quality. There is a considerable salmon-fishing upon the estate, and white fish, and shell-fish of all kinds. The low-country game upon it is plenty; and all sorts of Highland game within a few miles of it. There is some natural wood, and the plantations upon the estate are extensive, and in thriving condition.

Any of the tenants upon the estate will show the lands; and the rentals title-deeds, and articles of roup are to be seen in the hands of John Tait writer to the signet, Park Place, Edinburgh; and to whom any person may apply who wishes to purchase by private bargain.

The title-deeds, which are clear, with the plan of the lands, are in the hands of Matthew Sandilands, writer to the signet, who has power to conclude a private bargain any time before the day of sale.

These lands are of considerable extent, a good soil, and hold of a subject superior, for payment of a small yearly fee-duty.

For further information apply to Mr Andrew Wetherpoon, merchant in Glasgow, or Thomas Falconer writer there, either of whom will show the progress of writs and articles of roup.

TO be SOLD by public roup, within John's Coffeehouse, Edinburgh, upon Wednesday the 28th day of November current, betwixt the hours of five and six afternoon,

The Lands of TARREREOCH, in the parish of Bathgate, and county of Linlithgow, holden of a subject superior for payment of a small fee-duty, and consisting of about 160 acres, great part of which is arable, though at present all in pasture, and in good order.

Upon this farm there is a very good commodious dwelling of houses. It lies within one mile of the village of Whitburn, and two of Bathgate, where there are extensive lime-works, which renders it an eligible situation for disposing of the produce of the farm, and for the means of improvement.

William Macfarlane, writer to the signet, James's Court, will show the title deeds and conditions of sale, to whom, or to Mr David Corbet, writer in Bathgate, application may be made for further particulars.

LOT I.—That pleasant VILLA of BROUGHTON-PARK, the first on the right hand from the Toll-bar on the Bonnington road, consisting of handsome dining and drawing-rooms, six bed-chambers, kitchen, cellars and offices, as lately possessed by Mr Campbell of Newfield.

Also a small BRICK HOUSE, to the east of the above, of four rooms, kitchen, and offices, possessed by Mrs Bruce.

Together with about four and an half acres of GROUND, completely and substantially inclosed, with the hot and green houses, gardener's house, ware-houses, shade and stable, possessed along with the grounds by Messrs Anderson, Leslie, and Company feed-merchants in Edinburgh, on lease, of which there are about eighteen years to run, unless the company take the benefit of a breach in it.

For the encouragement of purchasers, immediate access can be had to both houses; and the proprietor of them has an option, during the lease, of the nursery, to take possession of any part of the ground contiguous to them, not exceeding an acre and a half English measure.

The tenants are bound to maintain the inclosures, with the several buildings they possess, to leave them in good repair, at the expiry of the lease, and are bound not to remove any of the trees that are regularly planted, and of old standing.

These premises hold fee of the governors of Heriot's Hospital, are plentifully supplied with good water, have an extensive and delightful prospect of the Frith of Forth and country adjacent. Their vicinity to the New Town, and within fifteen minutes walk of the Crofts of Edinburgh, renders them a very eligible situation, both for a town and country residence.

JUDICIAL SALE OF LANDS AND FISHERIES, In the Island of May, Argyleshire.

THE Lands and Estate of SUNDERLAND, lying in the island of May, and county of Argyle, is to be exposed to public judicial roup and sale, by authority of the Court of Session, within the Parliament or new Session-house of Edinburgh, upon Wednesday the 6th day of December next, betwixt the hours of five and seven afternoon.

The free rent of the estate, after all deductions, as proved in the course of the process of sale, is 303 l. 1 s. 10 d. 6-12th Sterling; and the proven value, at which the same is to be exposed to sale is 7216 l. 10 s. 4 d. 3-12th Sterling.

The estate consists of the different farms of Sunderland, Sunderland Park, and Feorland, the lands of Coul, with the pendicle called Macchie, the lands of Coulcrach, and the very extensive farm and graving of Cladville.

The lands are well known to be very extensive, remarkable for yielding good crops and rearing black cattle of the best quality, besides containing a stretch of coast particularly well calculated for the fisheries. On the farm of Cladville, which is well adapted for a village, is the famous fishing station of Portmahaven; and there are two fishing-banks off the farm of Coul, as well as off Portmahaven, remarkable for the largest and best kind of cod. There were salt-pans erected at Portmahaven many years ago, which may be carried on with advantage.

There was also a good rabbit warren at Coul; and there is some natural wood upon Sunderland and Feorland, of considerable value in that part of the country; and there is promising appearance of a lead mine at Cladville. These several advantages, together with a situation so peculiarly calculated for the fisheries, must satisfy every enquirer, that this property which has been hitherto in a state of nature, is capable of very great and substantial improvement.

There has accordingly been a rise of about 30 l. Sterling yearly to the rent, since the proof in the sale was taken; so that the present free rent is 333 l. 1 s. 10 d. 3-12th. The teinds have been low valued many years ago, and are in a great measure exhausted by the stipend payable to the minister, which is deducted from the above rental.

The articles and conditions of sale will be seen in the office of Alexander Stevenson, one of the depute-clerks of Session, and clerk to the process of sale. The present tenants will show the lands, and point out their boundaries. And any desirous to be informed of further particulars may apply to John Macmillan writer in Inveraray, factor on the estate, or to James Fraser writer to the signet, agent in the sale.

A plan of this Estate has lately been made out, which may be seen in the hands of James Fraser, writer to the signet.
